

BEHIND THE SCREEN

There was once a girl of 16 years and a boy of 18, who every day they sailed through the networks. The one seeing the profile of the girl bewildered and started talking, the girl liked her photos and decided to follow the conversation. After a while young people started sending photos and videos. And after four months the two had already taken confidence to each other and they did not stop talking throughout the day.

They had only seen each other behind a screen for over four months and had a lot of intrigue in how they would see each other in person and decided to meet in the park. The two described how they were dressed, to know who they were, the girl was wearing a pink shirt and jeans and the boy was wearing a blue sweatshirt and sweatpants. They stayed in the afternoon, but at the time of meeting they were really surprised since everything had been a lie, the two adolescents were actually two men from 40 to 50 years old, that's what they did was gain confidence with young people through the networks to later obtain photos and intimate videos of them and then threaten to public the videos, photos etc. When the two men saw each other, they were surprised and learned their lesson.
